Resolved, That on and after the 4th of March, 1867, this building shall be devoted solely to executive affairs.

BUYING HIS OWN PRIVACY.

This will give the next President of the the United States the proud privilege of renting or buying his own residence, in which he could surround himself with such trules as would ensure reasonable privacy, and not be constantly subject to the humilintion of the consciousness that he is sponging on the people for the root that is over his head while accepting a salary which in his private business he could not by any means honestly earn.

A President who lives modestly, yet liberally, as becomes comfortable people in a democracy, can save at least $35,000 a year out of his salary, and yet pay a rental for a house which would secure him the best of

ont of his salary, and yet pay a rental for a house which would secure him the best of the private residences of the town. Now, isn't thut good enough for him? Would it must be good enough for you, even if you were Fresident?

At any rate that would be my way of settling the important question of the future life of our Presidents, instead of yoting $2,000,000 or more for the construction of a Presidental "palace" to give the chief ex-from his box.

the "problems" which must be solved in the near future, and which interests every man, woman and chiff of the country, is the housing of the President and his family. If we must have Presidents we should give them a chance to live decently, with space enough for the household made necessary by the demands of the station, and with privacy at those times when privacy is their right. No married couple in America who values domestic quiet would from choice live as the President is forced to live, with no more space than is to be had in many a house of the city which can be rented for $40 a month, and with a feeling the President by office seckers, the lack of which some men press their demands while seem that however cynical one may be in regard to the necessity and sense of all this machinery of government, one must be hard hearted indeed to tail in sympathy for

Not to go into a long discussion of an old question, it must appear to every one that the country should not treat the President more meanly than others of its employes.

They should not compel him to live in one end of a business block after the fashion of the economical keeper of a lager beer saloon.

They should trample on precedent, instead of on the President and permit the highest ranking servant of the people to do as the member of the lowest grade, and that is to hire his own private house and pay for it out of his own pocket, like other people.

I can see no more reason why a President should be furnished a house to live in than a Vice President, a member of the Cabinet, or any other employe of the Government. He gets a bigger salary than anybody else, and the necessary entertainments which he gives during his term makes no greater draught on his purse than on the pockets of the others. These entertainments are pretty generally provided for in the contin-gent fund for the maintenance of the Executive, and need not to any serious extent

A MONABCHICAL IDEA

He is not compelled to live in the executive mansion except by precedent, and as precedent is easily gotten rid of in a country only 100 years old, that should not stand in the way of a sensible President who really desires to have privacy when he is not in attendance on his public duties.

Moreover, it seems to me that it is a precedent which would be more bonored in the breach than in the observance. Like the Presidency itself, it is a relic of the monar-

The fathers of the republic could not di-west themselves of the conviction that there must be some one person to sit like a king as a court of last resort upon the action of the President, as the castle for the king. Of course it may be said that there is no difference in fact between paying a public servant a salary with which he rents a house and renting the house for him, or building him one in which he may live rent free, but if so, why not do as much for every public servant? In this democratic country why should a distinction be made in favor of the President, who is no less a servant and no more a ruler than the most

A SERVANT, NOT A RULER.

We compel the Vice President, members of the Cabinet, Senators, and members of the House of Representatives to live on salaries ranging from $8,000 to $5,000 a year and rent their own houses. By living modestly and attending strictly to the business for which they are sent to the capital they can pay their expenses and have somethin left. If they "put on style," and entertain handsomely, giving expensive dinners, of course they will find themselves out of pocket at the end of the year. But if they please to do that it is their own affair and they should pay for the pleasure out of their private means. They are not paid for giving champagne dinners.

But here is the President, a mere executor of the laws, not by any means as important an individual as the man who makes the laws, under the operation of this anomaly of a democracy of ours, getting a salary of $50,000 a year, and a house to live in, and Presidents and tuft hunters and sticklers for show and grandeur and "the dignity of the Government" demand that he shall be made more of a king than he is now by building a new and magnificent palace for his private use, where he may en-told himself more than now in the egotism of power and exclusiveness, and fancy him-self more and more a ruler instead of a ser-

LET US RESOLVE.

While, therefore, we may sympathize with the President in the impossibility of privacy which he now suffers, let us not mandle over it nor become afflicted with the idea that the country is humiliated by the fact that he is cooped up in one end of the public building where the executive business of the Government is conducted. Let us rid ourselves of all idea of snobbery and become pure and simple democrats, as we ought to be in this democratic country, and solve the question of the President's resi-dence and privacy by demanding that our representatives in Congress introduce some-thing like the following:

ont of his salary, and yet pay a rental for a house which would secure him the best of the private residences of the town. Now, isn't that good enough for him? Would it

Mass,:

I am glad to hear that a public meeting is to be held in your city to protest in the name of Christianity and humanity against the enforced idleness in prisons, perilous alike to body and mind, which can only result in filling your prisons with maniacs. My sympathies are with the laboring class in all their just demands, and I would favor every legitimate measure which promises to benefit them. But the suppression of labor in the prisons is too small a gain for them to be purchased by the transformation of prisons into madhouses. I trust further reflection, and the knowledge of the dreadful consequences of the slow torture of brooding idleness, will ere long induce them to forgo what must be a very trifling benefit at the best. every morning with invalids from all parts of the country and city who are suffering from all manner of complaints, eagerly waiting for an opportunity to receive a magnetic treatment from Dr. Smith. That this man is endowed with a strange and mysterious gift to heal diseases there can be no possible doubt. The many wonderful cures he performs simply by laying his hands upon the invalid is truly marvelous. Scores of helpless invalids are carried upon the stage, and after receiving a magnetic treatment of not more than five minutes' duration, get up, walk around the platform and declare to the audience that they are entirely well. Dr. Smith is a thoroughly educated physician and surgeon, and performs all operations known to surgery; he cordially invites both the sick and the well to go to the Grand Opera House and witness his many wonderful cures. This morning a man went upon the stage who had been a helpless invalid for four years, suffering from rheumatism in his back and lega. He was so lame that he was obliged to walk with crutches and could not stand alone without them. In five minutes he was running around the platform with his crutches over his shoulder, as well as he ever was in his life. Another gentleman who suffered from a lame shoulder, as well as he ever was in his life. Another gentleman who suffered from a lame shoulder, as well as he ever was in his life. Another gentleman who suffered from a lame shoulder and who had not been able to put on his cost without help in five years, was cured in less than five minutes. A lady who had been deaf five years was made to hear a whisper. A lady suffering from rheumatic headache was relieved of all pain in a few moments' time. These wonderful cures were witnessed by an audience of more than 1,000 people. Dr. Smith will treat the sick every morning this week at the Grand Opera House from 10 to. 11 o'clock free of charge; everybody is invited to attend and listen to the lecture and witness the cures. The Dootor is located at 502 Penn avenue, where he may be con EMBROIDERIES All the newest and latest conceptions in Orientals and Chantillys, Medici and Plattvuls from the medium to the richest grades.
